

NEWS AND VIEWS . . .

And What Have You

By BOB CRAIG

We have been asked by Mayor Hollis Madden and City Superintendent Bill Rountree to plead with the local citizens to take part in the city-wide clean-up this week.

Bill asks that everyone have their trash in the alleys Monday, May 6 so that the city trucks can make one trip over the city. Because of the extremely bad weather, the city trucks have had a hard time covering the city this year.

Bill hopes that they can catch up with their regular pickup work that week as well as carry off all of the trash from the clean-up campaign.

It seems that in the past, the city has had trouble with people waiting until after the pickup date to do their clean up work and this causes an extra work load on the department.

With so much wet weather as we have had this year it is going to be difficult for the city to control both the flies and the mosquitoes even with a good clean-up.

High weeds and trash filled with standing water will breed mosquitoes faster than they can be killed.

In explaining the early than usual clean up drive, Mayor Madden said that he hoped that we could get the jump on the mosquito population and even with this we may have to have more than one clean up this year.

We hope that everyone will find the time Sunday afternoon to drop by the Harden Memorial Library and see the improvements that the women of Hamlin have made since last fall.

While the library still has a long way to go before it will be one that Hamlin can really be proud of, it is making a great deal of progress in that direction.

Since the efforts were started last fall to save the library most of the money and time have gone into remodeling the building and getting the physical plant in shape. Now that this part is out of the way and work has started on upgrading the books and the records, there should be considerable improvement noted in the library from this point on.

A while back we were having coffee with Max Brown, pastor of the First Baptist Church, and the talk got around to some type of summer youth program for our youth. Max has some ideas that we feel have merit and we would like to see at least some of them undertaken this summer.

In the past, about the only summer program we have had is the Little League baseball which only lasts about one month of the summer vacation.

Max suggests that every organization in Hamlin should be able to come up with some type of program that would fit into their theme or goals. Maybe the riding club could come up with a program where kids without horses could be taught to ride and care for animals. Surely there are enough horses around to take care of a few kids each week.

There are any number of outdoor activities that the Jaycees, the Lions and the Rotarians could undertake if some way could be found to get things started.

Max wonders if some ladies organization could sponsor a summer theatre group for teenagers. There should be something that would fit into the Garden Club's program that would interest a certain number of youths.

None of the programs would have to take in every kid in town, but rather would be designed to just appeal to different groups. We know from past experience that any of the school's facilities would be available to any group that wanted them.

Really, if the program could get started there is no reason why it should stop with just the youth as Hamlin needs more varied activities for adults too. But, the big problem is how do you get something like this started? Who will make the first move?

Unless they change things this year, Daylight Savings time will start Sunday morning at 2 a.m. (we checked back to be sure this time). Move your clock forward an hour Saturday night and you will get to church on time Sunday.

CB Club Seeks Additional Storm Warning Sirens; One Inadequate

The Friday test of the local Severe Weather Warning System proved that the system was inadequate for coverage of the entire city, according to Police Chief Bryan Wasson. As a result of the test, efforts are being made to secure additional sirens to give complete coverage.

Jerry Pritchard, president of the Airways CB Radio Club, announced that his organization is seeking donations for the purchase of three or four additional electronic sirens at a cost of about $250 each.

Donations to this fund may be mailed to: Air Ways CB Club, P. O. Box 201, Hamlin, Texas.

Members of the CB Club assisted the Police Department in Friday's test and were stationed at strategic locations over the city. Their report showed that the alarm could not be heard in the North West section of the city. It could not be heard at the elementary, primary and junior high schools. The extreme South edge of the city was also unprotected by the alarm.

The additional units being planned by the CB Club would be placed over different sections of the city for more complete coverage. In addition to this, police cars would cruise the fringe areas using their sirens.

The Radio Club has agreed to install and maintain the additional units if they can be secured.

The local club is in the

Spring Clean-Up Underway Here

The annual spring clean-up campaign got underway here in Hamlin this week and will continue through Saturday, May 4. The two-fold campaign is designed to clean up the city to eliminate breeding spots for flies and mosquitoes, according to Mayor Hollis Madden.

Joining the city in sponsoring the clean up campaign, the local Jaycees have offered the services of the club and its members. The Jaycees will assist in cleaning up vacant lots, blind corners and other hazards when their help is requested by property owners, according to Ewell Mackey, president.

Following the conclusion of the campaign, the City will make a complete coverage of the town and haul off all of the trash placed in the alleys. Supt. Bill Rountree has requested that everyone have their clean up work finished by Monday, May 6, so that the trucks can make one trip over the city to gather up everything to be hauled off. He also asks that only the things to be hauled off be placed in the alleys.

Mayor Madden said that the clean-up is being held early this year because of all of the rain we have had. It is hoped by the city officials that a good clean up will cut down on the fly and mosquito population.

If we do not eliminate the breeding spots early this year, we could be faced with a plague of insects, he added.

Madden also added that it is possible that we may have to have more than one clean-up campaign this year.

Northeast Hamlin to Gain Mail Service

Efforts are underway here to add the North East section of Hamlin to a Rural Postal Route, according to Perry Sparks, local postmaster. The area is currently not being served by the post office.

A survey of the area has been made and the area from NE Ave. C to NE Ave. I would be included in the rural route. Final word on the additional service must come from the Post Office Department and it is expected that it will be 10 days to two weeks before the service can be started.

Patrons in the area will be required to place a mail box at the street to qualify for the service, Sparks said.

The Postmaster said that later on the area could be added to the city delivery if the patrons so desire and will meet qualifications. To qualify for city delivery the houses must have house numbers, a mail box and a weather proof walkway to the house. There is also a requirement that at least half of a block be developed before it can be served.

SCS Urging Livestockmen to Set Up Grazing Plan for More Profit

"Businessmen want to make money, and livestockmen are businessmen. That is why conservation grazing plans appeal to stockmen," said Gary A. Batte, Work Unit Conservationist with the Soil Conservation Service in Stamford.

A grazing plan is a schedule which shows the number of animals to be grazed on each field or pasture during each month of the year.

"Most successful grazing plans," said Batte, "are built around an inventory of the type of feeds that are expected to be available during each season of the year." Livestock numbers can then be adjusted accordingly.

Besides providing a balance between livestock numbers and available forage, a grazing plan usually includes provisions for hay and other feeds to be kept on hand for emergency use. It also shows what the stockman intends to do during times of extremely dry weather.

According to the SCS, a grazing plan can be used to show planned rest periods for certain pastures.

"Stockmen should take advantage of the extremely favorable moisture conditions to plan rest periods for pastures this year," said Batte. "This will allow grasses to improve in cover and vigor, and produce a good seed crop this fall."

Grazing plans are a regular part of conservation plans prepared by soil conservation district cooperators with the assistance of SCS technicians.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Pemberton attended funeral services Saturday for his twin brother, W. M. Pemberton, a nurseryman at Mineral Wells.

Questions and Answers about All Number Calling coming to Hamlin in October

Q. What is All Number Calling?
A. It's the modern telephone numbering system that is being adopted across the nation, changing telephone numbers from two letters and five numerals to seven numerals.

Q. Will I actually dial most numbers as I always have?
A. Yes. There will be basically no change in the way you dial. The two letters of the exchange name will simply be changed to numerals.

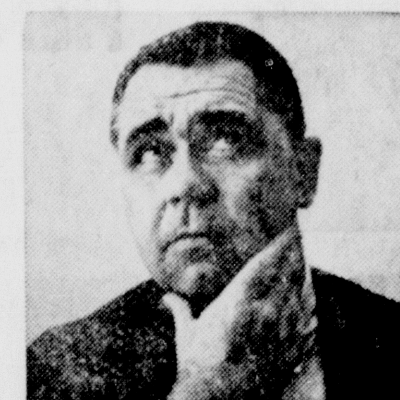

Q. When will All Number Calling start in Hamlin?
A. With delivery of the new telephone directory in October. The prefix "SP 4," will be changed to "576." The last four digits of many numbers will remain the same.

Q. Are any other number changes planned?
A. Yes. Some Hamlin numbers will have other changes. Customers affected by these changes will be notified as soon as possible.

Q. Is it really easier and faster to dial numbers only?
A. People who have been using All Number Calling have found it is definitely easier and faster to dial numbers only, because they no longer have to search for letters on the dial.

Q. Are there any other advantages?
A. Definitely. All Number Calling ends confusion between the letter "I" and the number one; and the letter "O" for zero. Nor will there be any more misunderstanding or misspelling of the exchange names.

Any more questions? Just call the telephone business office for the answers.

Candidate for President Should Start With Simple Qualifications

Omar Burleson, M. C.
17th District, Texas

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Of whatever political persuasion be the candidate or whatever Party he represents, a man offering himself as President of the United States should start with some simple yet fundamental qualifications. People have the right to expect no less.

In these times of crises, of violence, of hatred and of horror, one thing is at least clear amidst the vast and menacing uncertainties of our day. This is that the political future belongs to the man who most truly embodies a sense of dignity, of judgment, of restraint, of action, of strength, of compassion, of calm firm resolve to restore to this Nation the old and traditional values which seem largely to have been lost.

For some years now, it seems that most everything fashionable has been sick — sick comedians, sick students, sick politicians, sick demonstrators and counter-demonstrators, sick books, periodicals and sick movies.

Old fashion qualities have not seemed fashionable at all in many quarters — patriotism, loyalty, love of family, responsibility in private and public conduct, consideration toward other men and other ideas — even in religion.

In this latter, it seems the "IN" pulpit have been ringing out, not so much with man's obligations to God as with the shrill, socio-political dogmas of political preachings. Many men in the "square" pulpits have called attention to the use of sanctuaries of noble cathedrals being used for bitter pseudo-dramas, for wild psychedelic so-called music and the gyrations of youthies, rather than for the somber measure and timeless liturgies of our ancient faiths.

Seemingly lost also is that sense of manners standing for mankind's true values next to public nor private morality can long endure with that lesser but indispensable companion which used to be called "good taste".

"Student Activists" defy Military Draft, coaxed by professors publicly advising them on schemes to evade a common obligation of their generation while less privileged boys carry the guns and do the dying. While these intellectuals proclaim freedom for everything, they close their minds and ears to every opinion except their own. Many have encouraged university students to shout down and even physically menace men invited to their platforms for open discussions if views contrary to theirs are offered. Many such institutions owe their existence for no other reason than for the free and decent exchange of ideas.

Some of us are old enough to remember the hoarse, terrifying, mindless roars of Hitler's youth. It is uncomplimentary thing to say, but nevertheless it should be said — conditions existing on some of our campuses and elsewhere are not too dissimilar from Hitler's youth of that time.

Some students, young professors and some young and not so young politicians, have laid ugly hands upon the honored concept of free dissent. In too many instances, they have twisted and perverted rights into a license of intellectual terrorism and into a conscious subversion of lawful national purpose constitutionally authorized.

It seems that people should have the right to expect no less of a man who even offers himself for the Presidency, than a dedication and strongest resolve to offer a cure and administer the treatment for this sickness in our land.

AUSTIN. — Sen. Ralph Yarborough has taken himself out of contention with Gov. John Connally for Texas Democratic favorite son designation. But he has drawn battle lines for party conventions.

Liberals, if they follow Yarborough's lead, will oppose the favorite son device, demand selection of an uninstructed state delegation to the Democratic convention and oppose the traditional "unit rule."

Conservative — moderate forces, rallying behind the governor, will offer resolutions backing Connally for favorite son and head of the 104-vote Texas national convention. In all probability, they too, would require all of the state's 104 votes to be cast as a package, without consideration to preferences of a minority viewpoint among the delegates.

That, in a nutshell, is the main issue to be decided in some 5,260 Democratic voting precincts May 4. In selected precincts, supporters of Sens. Robert F. Kennedy and Eugene McCarthy are expected to push resolutions seeking to commit delegates to their presidential candidacies. Neither of the senators at this point appears to have any substantial support over the state.

Some of the nation's Democratic governors at a St. Louis, Mo., conference last week gave Connally a boost by urging him to become a serious contender — a sort of favorite son among the governors — for vice president. Connally said he has no aspirations for the job, and does not expect it to be offered. Nevertheless, he expected to play a major role in charting the course of the 24 Democratic state chief executives at the nominating convention.

Meanwhile, although they are traveling widely and speaking frequently, the 13 candidates for governor of Texas continued to find themselves overshadowed by world, national and partisan events. And the election is only a little more than a week away!

RECORD NUMBER OF VOTERS — Total voter registration this year is a record 4,072,397 — nearly a million more than the last presidential year (1964) but still shy of predictions.

Five biggest counties of the state alone accounts for nearly 1,633,000 of the total eligible voters, and if all major metropolitan areas are counted, city voters overwhelm the rural area residents. That statistical fact figures strongly in campaign plans of gubernatorial candidates who are busily scouting the big cities during the windup weeks of their vote drives.

Last county to report to Secretary of State Roy R. Barrera on registration was Harris (Houston) with 583,721 voters. Dallas County has 466,925, Bexar (San Antonio) 237,359, Tarrant (Ft. Worth) 242,693 and Travis (Austin) 102,264.

OIL PRODUCTION CUT — Railroad Commission ordered a second consecutive reduction in statewide oil production allowable, pegging it at 45.7 per cent of potential for May. This will allow maximum production of 3,476,972 barrels daily next month.

Factor now in effect is 47.6 per cent and permits average calendar day allowable of 3,531,736 barrels.

Major producers submitted nominations for 3,071,269 barrels of Texas crude oil a day for May, a decrease of 60,099 from April. Bureau of Mines' forecast of demand remained unchanged at 3,040,000.

Production allowable a year ago (May, 1967) was only 33.8 per cent, or 3,022,309 barrels a day.

DRAFT QUOTA DOWN — Texas draft quota for May is 2,131, compared with 2,378 for April, reports Selective Service Director Col. Morris S. Schwartz.

However, local draft boards actually will forward more men to the armed forces examining and entrance stations for pre-induction physical and mental exams. May call in this category is 9,000 compared with 8,500 for April and 7,200 in March.

NEW WATER PLAN TOLD — A plan for tapping the great icecap water wealth of the northwest to satisfy needs of Texas and 16 other southwestern and western states will be presented to the Texas Water Development Board at a hearing here Friday (April 26).

Lewis G. Smith of Denver, a retired U. S. Bureau of Reclamation engineer, proposes to bring in water from Columbia, British Columbia and Yukon via the Rocky Mountain Trench to High Plains and Pecos River for diversion to West Texas and Eastern New Mexico. Plan also would divert water to the Rio Grande for South Texas and the Valley area.

County Agent Gives Help On Controlling Cotton Seeding Disease

Cotton seeding disease can greatly affect total yield from your acreage, says County Agent Kirby Clayton. Organisms associated with cotton seedling diseases are fungi, bacteria, and nematodes. They are most damaging during periods that favor their development but unfavorable for plant development.

Preventing disease from affecting seedlings can be accomplished only by following the proper combination and use of control practices.

It is important to bury all trash below the planting level and plant the seeds on beds to allow proper drainage. Shaped beds and precision planting can greatly aid in the control of seedling disease.

Seeds should be treated with a chemical fungicide to control seed surfaceborne organisms and prevent seed rot.

The seed should be of good quality and should give a high germination of normal seedlings at 65 degrees in seven days. Lower quality seeds require higher temperatures and longer to germinate.

To test the seed quality before planting, Clayton suggests constructing an incubator from an old refrigerator that will cool to 65 degrees. An electric light bulb controlled by a thermostat may be used to raise temperatures to 65 degrees.

After seven days at the 65 degree temperature, high quality seed will germinate and have a straight root 1 1/2 inches long. Low quality seed will have poor germination and roots which are coiled or nubbed. Any mold growth on the seeds will indicate deterioration, he says.

To assure a satisfactory stand it may be necessary to apply an in-covering fungicide when seedling disease has consistently been a problem. Sprays, dusts, or granules may be used and they should be thoroughly mixed with the soil used to cover the seed in the furrow.
